1.1.1 - Institution has the mechanism for well planned curriculum delivery and documentation. Explain in 500 words

Navjeevan Law College, Nashik offers LL.B. and B.A.LL.B. and two diplomas Diploma in Taxation Laws and Diploma in Labour Laws. The College implements the curriculum designed by the Pune University and as per the vision and mission set by Navjeevan Education Society. Before the commencement of the first semester, our College conducts a meeting to chalk out academic planning through the academic calendar. Every year the first IQAC Meeting is conducted at the beginning of the academic year. According to the Academic planner, the distribution of subjects and preparation of time table takes place which mentions the date of commencement and conclusion of the academic session and communicated well in advance as well as curricular, co-curricular and extra-curricular activities in the academic year. Admissions are done through Maharashtra CET Cell. The institution helps the candidates to fill-up CET forms. The college assists the aspirant student at every step of taking the admission. The College also provides counseling to the prospective students and their parents regarding the career in law, opportunities in law, and various streams under law, etc. After the admission process, in the beginning of the academic year, an induction/welcome session is organized to make new students well acquainted with the institution, objectives of the course, placement facility provided, evaluation & marking pattern and internship, etc. and other activities and programs are organized throughout the academic year. The induction program facilitates the newcomers to know their institution and its ins and outs. All the staff members prepare their teaching and working plans and submit it to the Principal for supervision and periodic review. The regular teaching staff and visiting faculty members adopt different methods and techniques for effective and student-centric teaching-learning process. In view to bridge a gap between Law in theory and Law in Practice, Navjeevan Law College gives equal weightage to the practical aspect of legal education and arranges various activities like court visits, jail visit, police station visit, moot court competitions, elocution competitions, seminar, workshop, guest lectures, other visits, and different cultural activities, etc. The institution has its placement cell which provides the necessary information to the passed out students regarding internships in various courts, and other vacancies available in the government and private sector. The institution caters overall development of a student which believes in continuous evaluation and arranges revision and remedial classes. Feedback from students and stakeholders is taken every year and acted upon for the betterment of the institution and society after proper analysis. The views and suggestions from the alumnus are always welcome and give importance in the preparation of new academic year planning. The institution organizes programs for personality development and communication skills essential for law profession. The institution has a separate examination cell with the Chief Examination Officer (C.E.O.) as its head which carries a continuous internal assessment of all students. The Institution has rich library resources with an electronic databases and reading facilities. The Wi-Fi and Internet facility is provided to the students and faculty members for their academic excellence.

Feedback Obtained The objective of feedback is to identify the needs, shortcomings, lacunas and to improve them in a systematic way and in planned manner. Navjeevan Law College, Nashik has quest for the 'best' and the best way to achieve this, is to obtain feedbacks from all the stakeholders. Navjeevan obtain feedback from students, alumni, parents and teacher and other stake holders every year. Feedbacks plays vital role in improving the overall quality and efficiency of an institution to address the needs and fulfill the aspiration of all the essential components of the College. The feedback of teachers from students is most important to bring necessary changes in teaching-learning process to make it more interesting and student centric. The feedback of teacher contain their teaching methodology, teaching skills, subject knowledge, punctuality discipline, content enrichment, conduct in the class, use of various teaching techniques, and administration of College etc. This method helps teachers to improvise them in all aspects and to bring necessary positive changes in their behavior. The College also asks the suggestions from students for betterment of institute. Alumni play significant role in the development of the institution alumni are potential mentors of students who inculcate the professional values in the students. The feedback of alumni regarding the institute based on their experiences, infrastructure, teaching and non-teaching staff, library facilities, alumni contribution and their valuable suggestions. The parents feedback is also valuable for the college which is collected in parent-teachers meet every year wherein the overall administration of institution is discussed. The administration of college is assessed on facilities provided, documentation, infrastructure, student counseling, and student friendly atmosphere, mentoring of students, admission process, and exposure to various curricular, co-curricular and extra-curricular activities. Navjeevan Law College considers student's feedback very valuable the institution analyzes student's feedback in the meeting, chalks out plans for improvement acts accordingly. Along with the feedback from students, alumni, parents, teacher and other stakeholders, college takes feedback activities like seminars, workshop, guest lectures and other activities carried out in the college which are properly analyzed, discussed and utilized the same to prepare the academic calendar for the next year and conduct the future programmes. 2.3.2 - Students mentoring system available in the institution? Give details. (maximum 500 words)

A mentor's role is to listen when you have questions, concerns, or frustrations, and to give advice or support when they are able. ... But a mentor is not a guarantee of success - and you'll still need to work hard, both in your studies and in maintaining your mentor-student relationship. Mentors play a part in showing how to develop leadership skills, and if you ever have aspirations of being a general counsel, a department head, a managing partner, watching them interact with others and the responses they engender through those interactions are valuable learning tools. The mentoring relationship is unique and for that reason, many people are confused about what the rules are. A mentor should be considered as a trusted advisor - someone you can be real with and gain insight from. But, one should remember it is a professional relationship. Mentors are assigned to a student for the academic year. Even though the students are expected to contact their mentors once a month, we understand that alumni are busy and sometimes may not be able to get back to the student right away. We expect that most of the communication between the mentor and mentee will happen via email, but we hope that each pair finds time for a phone call or video chat at the beginning of the relationship and an in-person meeting, if possible, at some point during the academic year. Mentors and students discuss a variety of topics including strategies for finding and selecting a job, but mentors are not expected to provide job leads. Alumni should not forego the opportunity to volunteer as a mentor because they do not think they are in a position to help a student find a job. The College will help guide the mentoring relationship by providing discussion topics in the areas of academics, getting involved, job search, networking, practice areas/settings, and professionalism/general understanding of the practice of law. Mentors can give you an inside view on what it is like to practice law. This is incredibly helpful, especially since many law school applicants don't know what lawyers actually do on a daily basis.

CRITERION VI - GOVERNANCE, LEADERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT

6.1 - Institutional Vision and Leadership

6.1.1 - Mention two practices of decentralization and participative management during the last year (maximum 500 words)

1. College Development Committee (CDC) : The College Development Committee comprising of the Chairman and the Secretary of the parent body, Navjeevan Education Society, Principal of the college, and HOD nominated by the Principal, teacher representatives, a non-teaching staff representative, IQAC coordinator, one local expert each from the fields of education, industry, and research, alumni representative, chairperson of Student Council and General Secretary of the college is formed. It is involved in taking strategic decisions regarding the institution. With the inclusion of local experts, teachers, non-teaching staff, and a student representative in the decision-making process, CDC represents a healthy practice in decentralizing and participative management. 2. College Level Committees: The decentralization and participative management are ensured by the formation of college-level committees looking after various aspects of the college administration. These committees look after the conception, planning, and delegation of duties and execution of the curricular, co-curricular, and extra-curricular activities in an effective manner.

Ten plus committees are formed for the said purpose. The Principal of the college is the chairperson of all the committees. The committees include teachers and non-teaching staff and student representatives thus improving the dialogue between them and promoting a culture of teamwork and proactive participation. Decentralization of management is further ensured by increasing students' participation in various college-level committees. The General Secretary, Sports Secretary, Class Representatives, and student volunteers are included in the committees for the college level. These students' representatives promote the activities of the committees among students, motivate them to participate in activities, their suggestions regarding the execution of the activities are considered. Students are thus involved with the arrangement of the different aspects of various events and thus participate in the management.

7.2 - Best Practices

7.2.1 - Describe at least two institutional best practices

Besides giving 100 to the students from a curriculum point of view Navjeevan always gives preference to the overall development of the students through the other and extracurricular activities. The practical-oriented approach is always been given very much importance while the completion of the syllabus. In the academic year, the 2019-2020 Special Guest Lecture series is organized for the law students on Professional Ethics, Competent of Court. The leading practitioners of the Nashik Bar Association Adv. Sudhir Kotwal, Additional Public Prosecutor, Adv. Avinash Bhide, Chairman Bar Council Maharashtra, and Goa and leading Criminal Practitioner, Adv. Ajay Toshniwal and Adv. Anuja Nehe guided students. The students prepared and presented the cases of Professional Ethics and Competent of Court before the Jury and the best three teams were selected for the prizes. The best advocate male, the best advocate female, and the best Judge were also felicitated with the hands of Hon. Guests. The series is basically an attempt to provide the platform to the budding Advocates to build confidence and to inculcate into their professionalism and ethical values. The students were also motivated by giving the prizes by the hands of the practitioners who also guided them with the actual working the courts and also help the students to make the research for preparing their arguments before the jury. Every year as a part of practical training students visit is arranged to the Supreme Court or the High Court. In the academic year from 8th February 2020 to 12th February, 2020 final year students visited the Bombay High Court and Panji High Court bench. They observed the court proceeding and have an interaction with Hon. Justice Bharti Dangre Bombay High Court. Students also visited Judges Library and know the procedure of e-filing. Students also visited Salgaonkar Law College Panji and interacted with the law college Principal. Every year the students also visit central jail Nashik, Police Station, Forensic Science Lab, Dipstick Court, etc. as a part of practical training. The students inclusion in the various college activities gives practical experience to the students and to think individually and collectively. The activities include various seminars, workshops, visits, Lecture series, moot court, alumni meet, NSS and SWO activities, etc. We are catering to the need of different types of students like the students coming from rural areas and the students who are having their vernacular problems understanding the law. For them, we organized remedial classes and English speaking and development programs. Through placement cell, we organized guest lecturers for the students including competitive examination, communication skills, etc. the students are helped after passing of their law examination for choosing their senior to enter into advocacy profession they are given information regarding the various option available after passing of their law courses. The Scholarship and freeship facility is available to the backward and economically backward students as per the government norms. They can avail these concessions at the fullest and the non-teaching office staff always cooperates with them. The legal aid clinic approved by Maharashtra state legal services authority is functioning for providing free legal aid and assistance to the poor and needy persons. The legal awareness camps are also arranged in the rural arrears. In the library Text Books, Reference Books, Journals are available physically for the last 50 years. In our library we have two Databases 1) Manupatra 2) Click Judgement which is use full for students to search recent case laws and bare Act. Eleven personal computers are available for the students with internet facility. Teaching Staff member is given their own PCS so that they can utilize it for their research purpose. The salaries of the staff members are paid strictly through Bank Account and the provident fund and other social security facilities are given to them. The feedback forms are filled up from the passing out students and the suggestions are always welcomed. The alumni meet is also organized every year. The induction program is arranged every year for the newly admitted students to provide them the knowledge relating to the college, manners and etiquettes, opportunities and law studying, etc.
